November 2012

Dear new friends, as much pleasure as I've received from your inspired and inspiring messages, the pleasure is doubled as I see what they're doing for my guys. It's just about the only thing they have to look forward to. May God bless you.

SGT - USM

I've really enjoyed these studies. The one talking about the war between God's and Satan's armies was unbelievable. (Pre-History of the World #13) Sort of put our battles in perspective.

USM

What a day. Waiting in line for some food. Just listening to you on my ipod. Just four guys ahead of me. Then what you said hit me hard. I stepped out of line and went and sat down by myself. Right there I realized Jesus died for my sins. I'm going to heaven. Didn't even eat. Didn't miss it. Wow

USM

Congratulations on the excellent presentation of quantum mechanics. (History of the World #53) The Biblical application was intriguing.

Michigan

Just a note of congratulations for your outstanding lecture on quantum mechanics. It is indeed a "twilight zone" but you rendered the concepts in an orderly presentation that made them comprehensible. I have recommended the study to my students. I have benefited as well by seeing things I'd never thought about before.

Illinois

As a physics professor I'm painfully aware that I often commit the proverbial error of seeing the trees and missing the forest. Your study of quantum mechanics provided me with a very valuable overview. Very well done. {History of the World #53}

Texas

What a powerful and unexpected explanation of the neutrinos speed of light dilemma! Very astute. {History of the World #53}

New York City

I had the great pleasure of listening to your lecture on quantum mechanics -- only because of the persistent and insistent urging of a colleague. {History of the World #53} He assured me I would hear things I'd never thought of before. To say I was dubious would be a gross understatement. To begin with, I had frankly never heard of you, and when I saw that the studies were Biblical, I was even more doubtful.

However I have to say he was correct. That was an outstanding presentation. As you know very well we were astonished at the finding that particles had exceeded the speed of light. We were astonished, indeed deeply disturbed since that is absolutely impossible. When you stated that what had happened was that time itself had contracted I had to pause the recording and sit in awe. But of course that is what happened. I'm amazed none of us perceived it. What insight. If I were a religious person I would say it was inspired. I fully intend to listen to more of what you have to say.

Illinois

You are among the worst I have ever heard. Colorado

Johnny's reply: Keep listening. I won't rest until I am THE worst.

Dear friends, thanks so much for your messages. They are my lifeblood here in the desert.
USM

December 2012

Dear pastor: I've been so thrilled first, to find these studies. I love the solid teaching and have learned so much. Also it's great having studies I can recommend to my intellectual husband. He has been listening and saying how much he enjoyed them, especially the Einstein relativity lesson. (History of the World #54) He's always been spiritually indifferent although he's been willing to go to a very liberal "church". I was astonished when I asked last week "are you ready to go to church" and he said "I don't want to go there anymore. They don't preach the Gospel!" Praise God!

New York

Just a quick note of commendation for the outstanding lecture on Matisse and Picasso. (History of the World #52) First new perspective I've heard in years. A colleague assured me I would learn something new. Indeed I did. The religious aspect was appealing and not overdone.

Indiana

Dear pastor,

I listen to a lot of Christian preachers. Many are wonderful but they all will sometimes let me down. They will preach Jesus, grace, grace. Then inevitably "you need to obey". "You will have to answer for your sins".

Thank you for always keeping my focus on HIM, not me. Thank you for being so faithful and consistent in the never failing grace of Jesus!

Toledo, OH

Dear friends, thank you from the bottom of my heart. These messages are all I have to look forward to.

USM

When you said that we weren't looking for Jesus, He was looking for us, and He was so stubborn He wouldn't give up, it hit me hard. It's hard to believe but He had to drive me out here in the desert to find me. A leg injury made me stop running. He found me and saved me. Praise God!

USM

Mr. Johnny Tatum,

Keep on truckin'! Am proud that you never waver on the 'radicalness' of God's grace to us who are believers! Thanks for delivering grace 'undiluted'--the way that none other I've ever listened to.

I came out from a legalistic church years ago; and the Lord has been leading me away from the Law and condemnation and into the marvelous light of grace and freedom.

My two favorite subjects are the Blessed Assurance (salvation by grace alone/cannot lose it!) and Blessed Hope (Titus 2:13, of course the Rapture). {History of the World #s 56-58}

Also proud that you put negative feedback in Letters at website (with appropriate responses!)

Sorry for lengthy letter. Bless you, Connie and the entire body of Christ,
With love and thanksgiving, in Jesus,

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada

So I left New York and went into the service and met some Muslims. I bought into it and was a devout Muslim. Radical Muslim. Started overhearing your studies from a couple of guys down. First ones were good. Flood and everything. (History of the World #2) I was tuning out the Christian stuff. But God had dialed me in. The more I listened I wanted to hear even more. One afternoon, just after you had said for the millionth time all you have to do is believe Jesus died for my sins, I asked God "please let me know the truth". I heard a voice almost exploding in my head, "this is the truth". I am now saved. I'm a new person. You're the best.

USM

Just a quick note waiting to eat. Last week lost a finger. Then a buddy. Then my wife back home. Seriously considering ending my life. Chaplain sat down beside me and said "Please just listen". He played one of your messages where somebody's asking "Why are you in despair". {Psalms series # 5} My world changed at that moment. So I lost a finger, wife and buddy, but I found Jesus. It's well worth it. Thank you sir (I'm saluting)

USM

I've had a lot of great Christmases in my 26 years. This one was shaping up to be the worst. I joined the Army because I was broke then got deployed out in the middle of a desolate and hostile area and scared all the time. When I opened your gift I felt like crying that someone would send me something. I started listening and that became the only happy moments of my life out here. Then I heard the message about Jesus being born in Bethlehem. I realized he didn't have it so good either. {Life of Jesus #4} Great message. Then I got the best Christmas present I could get. I did what you said. I believed that he came just for me. To die for my many sins. I'm still praying I get out of here alive but mostly I'm thanking Jesus for being my savior. Thank you so much for this gift.

USM

Excellent presentation on "Simeon Says". {Life of Jesus #6} I've always skipped over that passage. The study brought it to life. I love this grace oriented teaching.

Newark, NJ

What a fascinating story of the Magi! Very well narrated, full of suspense. It really opened up the passage for me. {Life of Jesus #7} Some of my unbelieving friends also found it to be intriguing!

Delaware

The lesson about the Magi was just great. {Life of Jesus #7} I loved how you found the biblical references beginning in Daniel and weaved them together into a gripping story. God is indeed in control!

Oregon

So what makes you think we can just barge into heaven like we own the place?

Reply: The fact that we own the place. {Romans 8:17 We are joint heirs with Christ}

Every lesson is the same thing. All we have to do to be saved is believe that Jesus died for our sins. That's all we have to do. Why do you keep saying that's all we have to do?

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Reply: Because that's all we have to do
