Light of the Gospel Reflected in Renaissance Art

Reformation for the Church; Renaissance for Europe

What a wonderful combination of lessons:

a startling picture of Europe including what is about to happen

then a sublime exposition of Renaissance art!

I have been a church member since childhood and this is the first time I have ever heard of the significance of the cross to me.

Liverpool, England

J'ai suivi une suggestion de YouTube pour vérifier le podcast sur les mensonges enseignés par l'église.

Oui, en effet, vous les avez énumérés avec précision.

C'était rafraîchissant d'entendre de bonnes nouvelles pour la première fois.

Les messages apocalyptiques m'ont donné la compréhension et la paix alors que j'embrasse Jésus.

Translation:

I followed a YouTube suggestion to check out the podcast on the lies taught by the church.

Yes, indeed, you have listed them precisely.

It was refreshing to hear the good news for the first time.

The apocalyptic messages gave me understanding and peace
as I embraced Jesus.

The YouTube podcast explaining the Antichrist is riveting.

For the first time I understand the crucifixion of Jesus as it applies to me when I trust in Him.

I am passing the link to all of the media.

Literary Renaissance led by Shakespeare

Christians have an instinctive ability to assimilate and interpret classical literature

The presentation of the literary Renaissance and Shakespeare is a masterpiece of erudition

The clear presentation of the Gospel is greatly appreciated.

The Great Awakening: Transition from the NeoClassical Era to the Romantic Era
Mozart, Beethoven, David, Trumbull

The Youtube video “The Great Awakening: The NeoClassical & Romantic Eras” is one of the most fascinating presentations I have ever heard.

The professor explains the music and art of the Neoclassical era with more depth and understanding than any college course I have ever experienced.

The Bible connection is so brilliant that I am reconsidering my long held view of the Bible.
